The island is accessible through Hato International Airport served by major air carriers currently including American Airlines, Insel Air, Delta Airlines and Continental Airlines from various cities in the U.S. and Air France KLM, Martinair and ArkeFly from Amsterdam with regular connections to various cities in Europe. Santa Barbara Plantation is a scenic 30-minute drive away from the airport and a brief 20-minute drive from the historic capital city of Willemstad. Because of its unique architecture and rich history, Willemstad was added to the UNESCO list of World Heritage sites in 1997. Surrounded by natural mangrove estuaries flocking with colorful birds and lush tropical flora, the Marina Village at Santa Barbara Plantation bears a private marina and 22 single-family patio homes overlooking the crystal blue waters known as Spanish Waters. Reminiscent of traditional Mediterranean architectural design with white exteriors, porcelain tile from Italy and clay roofs, the residences at Marina Village offer models ranging from 1,700-2,100 square-feet with detached garages and separate guest quarters. With the Seru Boca Marina presently operational, residences at Marina Village are priced beginning at US $850,000 and sales are already in progress.
